

“C” Better Skin

Save 20% on Vitamin C Products

L-Ascorbic Acid (Vitamin C) helps skin look younger by:

- increasing collagen production (i.e. firmer skin)
- preventing free radical damage and inflammation
- helping to protect and possibly reversing UV damage
- lessening hyperpigmentation
- strengthening capillary walls
- decreasing the appearance of fine lines and wrinkles, and
- accelerating wound healing (i.e. sunburn - activate with Aloe Vera)

There are many skin care products on the market today that boast vitamin C derivatives as an ingredient. In reality, L-ascorbic acid is the only useful form of vitamin C in skin care products (source: www.medicine.com). Vitamin C or L-ascorbic acid is not manufactured by the body; thus must be obtained through diet or supplementation.

Vitamin C taken internally helps many of the body's organs and tissues, however, most of it is eliminated before making its way to the body's largest organ, the skin. Vitamin C must be applied topically for the skin to obtain optimum benefit. L-ascorbic acid is unstable and tends to break down rapidly, which makes it difficult to include in cosmetic formulas. We solved that problem by providing L-ascorbic acid in a powder form that is activated for you at the time of sale.
